THE STATE OF SAHAJ

Where there is neither sea nor rains, Nor sun nor shade;

Where there is neither creation

Nor dissolution; Where prevails neither life nor death,

Nor pain nor pleasure;

Beyond the states of Sunn and trance;

Beyond words, O friend,

Is that unique state of Sahaj.

It can be neither weighed

Nor exhausted, Is neither heavy nor light;

It has no upper regions

Nor lower ones;

It knows not the dawn of day

Nor the gloom of night;

Where there is neither wind

Nor water nor fire,

There abides the perfect Master.

It is inaccessible,

It is incomprehensible,

It is, and it will ever be;

Attain it through the Master's grace.

Sayeth Kabir: I surrender myself At the feet of my Master,

I remain absorbed

In his true company.
